MINISTERING TO THE MINISTER

Several years ago, I was visiting a congregation whose "prime" had passed. The attendance was half of what it used to be as empty pews marked the places where entire families once sat. The singing only echoed the full voices that had previously stirred the building with sweet praise. Be on your guard against every form of greed; for not even when one has an abundance does his life consist of his possessions.

In My wife and I had come here passing through on vacation, looking for old friends who we learned had moved away or joined other, more active congregations. The service seemed to mourn their leaving as it wound its way through an uninspired set of songs and a prayer by one who had little to say to God.

My disappointment with the worship was complete when, instead of the regular preacher, it was announced that a student intern was going to deliver the sermon that morning. "Oh great," I thought, "I get one Sunday off to receive ministry and I have to listen to a beginner give his first sermon."

The young man rose to the pulpit and began to preach a sermon about Jesus' life. The material was familiar, the format and presentation shaky and the illustrations drawn from the usual sources. I remember thinking (rather egotistically) "At least they could have asked me to preach."

About half way through his sermon, the young intern mentioned the resurrection and suddenly his voice and spirit began to soar as he spoke with conviction, authority and joy. The entire assembly was captured by his sincerity and the power of the Word. I realized, once again, as I repented from my pride that the "gospel is the power" (Romans 1:16) and that God had indeed ministered to me that morning.

Discussion Questions

1. What is your favorite part of the worship service? Why?
2. If you had advice to give to preachers in general, what would that be?
3. What, in your opinion, does Paul the Apostle mean when he declares:
 1. "I am not ashamed of the gospel."
 2. "For it is the power of God for salvation to everyone who believes..."

A WORN-OUT OLD BOOK

Psalm 119:73

When I was just a child, to Grandpa's house we'd go.
To his little farmhouse in the country,
where the tall pine trees grow.
A mule in the pasture, milk cow
in the stall.
Chickens in the yard, all of which I now recall.
An old rocker on the porch, a lantern
on a hook.
And on a homemade table by his chair,
laid an old worn-out book.
The cover was curled and torn, the pages crumpled and stained.
As I gazed at the volume lying there, I wondered why it remained.
So one day I asked him, the reason he kept it around.
Why he didn't replace it, he responded with a serious frown.
Why son, that's the Holy Bible, a treasure to behold.
Within it are the words of God, and those words will never grow old.
If a man will take it and read it, then remember it well.
He will obey the Lord and be saved,
then to others the Gospel he'll tell.
One day that old book will be yours,
never let it depart.
But if it crumbles and fades away, keep its words safe within your heart.

Therefore, since Christ has suffered in the flesh, arm yourselves also with the same purpose, because he who has suffered in the flesh has ceased from sin, so as to live the rest of the time in the flesh no longer for the lusts of men, but for the will of God. For the time already past is sufficient for you to have carried out the desire of the Gentiles, having pursued a course of sensuality, lusts, drunkenness, carousing, drinking parties and abominable idolatries. In all this, they are surprised that you do not run with them into the same excesses of dissipation, and they malign you; but they will give account to Him who is ready to judge the living and the dead. For the gospel has for this purpose been preached even to those who are dead, that though they are judged in the flesh as men, they may live in the spirit according to the will of God. The end of all things is near; therefore, be of sound judgment and sober spirit for the purpose of prayer. Above all, keep fervent in your love for one another, because love covers a multitude of sins. Be hospitable to one another without complaint. As each one has received a special gift, employ it in serving one another as good stewards of the manifold grace of God. Whoever speaks, is to do so as one who is speaking the utterances of God; whoever serves is to do so as one who is serving by the strength which God supplies; so that in all things God may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom belongs the glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen.

Verse of the Day
John 15:4-5 NASB1995

Abide in Me, and I in you. As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself unless it abides in the vine, so neither can you unless you abide in Me. I am the vine, you are the branches; he who abides in Me and I in him, he bears much fruit, for apart from Me you can do nothing.
